THE GREAT BOND ROBBERY.

The boldest robbery of the American people ever attempted is the effort of President Cleveland to sell $100,000,000 gold bonds to a foreign syndicate, with an option on $100,000,000 more. The great goldbug robber in the white house has never seriously attempted to sell those bonds to the American people.

The United States senate has decided by a large majority that no more bonds shall be sold at private sale or under private contract. Senator McBride went on record twice in favor of this resolution offered by Senator Elkins. Senator Mitchell was absent, but stands with McBride against bond sales to syndicates.

The vote to adjourn over the Elkins resolution showed a peculiar state of affairs. The silver Democrats deserted silver and went with their party. This will centralize the silver Republicans of the senate on the revenue bill and with the two Populist votes expected the bill will pass. But adopting the Elkins resolution blocked the president's game of choosing a private $200,000,000 bond contract with the Morgan syndicate, the most lawless and high-handed goldbug robbery ever attempted.

The president should be impeached for undertaking such "midnight bargains under dark-lantern light." Such sleight-of-hand performances by an administration of a government by the people shows how far our country has drifted towards an irresponsible despotism. This latest performance should be condemned regardless of party. The American people have the first right to buy bonds if any are needed to maintain the credit, honor and integrity of our government.

And why do the "noble 30" say "Whew!" Because Senator McBride is not in favor of the free and independent coinage of silver.—Oswego Ironworker.

Well, the thirty never took that position. There were a great many "free and independent coinage of silver" men among them, but they wanted first of all a Republican senator. If Harvey Scott had dictated a senator he would have had a goldbug, voting for the Cleveland gold bond robbery of the American people. Mr. McBride will never do that. He stands for the rights of the American people to govern their own country, and for genuine bimetalism.

There are men in the city council who want to go ahead and finish up the city hall when there is not a dollar in sight to do it with, when to do so means only to increase the already large interest-bearing debt, and when it will cost more to light and heat the new building than rent costs in the present. Others want to create a new ward to make places for men on the council who have axes to grind. Eighteen hundred and ninety-six is going to be a poor year for business and it ought to be a bad year for political jobs.

Salem financiers are not only going to capture a lot of premiums at the Portland show, but they are going to capture the show itself and bring it to Salem next year.

JOHN BULL BACKS DOWN.

The news came Saturday that England would and the Venezuela controversy by coming to a direct agreement with that country. Crowds about THE JOURNAL bulletin boards expressed great satisfaction at what was apparently a complete back down on the part of Great Britain. That country has for fifty years refused to settle what she now proposes to settle promptly.

The Venezuela minister to the United States, was shown the cablegram that Great Britain was to re-establish direct diplomatic relations with Venezuela, the overtures to be made through the good offices of an American state, not the United States.

In diplomatic circles at Washington the impression obtains that the dispatches indicated a backdown in Great Britain's attitude toward the South American republic. Chile was regarded as the country through which Great Britain was most likely to make any new representations to Venezuela of the character indicated in the dispatches, as its relations with that country are very cordial.

The effect of a direct settlement with Venezuela will be to deprive the commission just appointed by the president of their occupation. Great Britain's change of front is an illustration of the magic effect of a touch of the Monroe doctrine.

THE BROWN CASE.

The case begun by Rev. Brown of San Francisco, to send Mrs. Davidson to San Quentin prison for extracting $500 from him to silence a Mrs. Baddin, is still dragging along.

From a scriptural standpoint Dr. Brown should never have begun a prosecution against Mrs. Davidson. "If a man sue you for your coat, give him your cloak also and avoid litigation, was Christ's motto." He seemed to have lost all spiritual resources and took vengeance in his own hands.

Another curious feature is the fact that Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Baddin, Mrs. Tunnell, Mrs. Stockton and Overman are all divorced women. Brown as a materialist and sensationalist has been a power for evil rather than good. He should have adopted Ben Butler's rule—never to be found alone with a woman not his wife.

Lets see: There's the German-English crisis, the Spanish-Cuban crisis, the Turkish-Armenian crisis, the American-British crisis, the British-Transvaal crisis. There will be something for the newspapers for a few weeks to come.

YOUR BOY WON'T LIVE LONG.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial bottles free at Fred A. Legg's drug store.

ASSAILED A YOUNG GIRL.

The case of the state vs R. B. Matthews for attempted rape of Grace D. Smith last Thursday night at Roseburg, was before Justice Hamlin Saturday. The evidence on the part of the state, was very clear, and cross-examination, failed to weaken it.

Miss Smith, the prosecuting witness testified, in substance, that in going through the school house grounds, when she entered the shadow of the school building on the south side she was seized by defendant and pulled or dragged up to an open window and was thrust through into the basement while she was screaming and struggling to escape. The defendant jumped in after her and pulled her to the stairs leading up to the first floor. He continued to hold and take liberties with her. She scratched his face and neck causing the blood to run down on his collar, and bit him on the nose. He then forced her to sit on a bench and force kept her there about an hour and a half.

Miss Smith's long absence from home alarmed her folks, and a large number of persons went to search. As they came near the schoolhouse basement they heard a struggling within and saw two persons' forms on line with the opposite window. Their presence appeared to frighten her assailant; he released her and escaped and Miss Smith then jumped out of the window and ran for her home with her clothes so badly torn that her disarrangement were easily perceived by those who saw her.

The defense offered no adverse testimony. District Attorney Brown made a brief statement as to law on and penalty for rape or attempted rape. Justice Hamlin held the evidence sufficient to bind Matthews over to appear before the grand jury, and fixed his bonds at $5,000.

ALMOST DISTRACTED?

Did you ever suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you became irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.

Mr. Eugene Beaman, 110 Simonton St., Elk-hart, Ind., says: "Nervine has made me nearly insane and my nervous system was unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee. See bottle will benefit or money refunded.
